COLORADO EXPRESS CONSENT LAW INFORMATION

APD Case # _____

You have been arrested because a police officer has probable cause to believe you have been driving while under the influence of, or impaired by alcohol and/or drugs.

The Colorado Express Consent Law states the following:

1. By driving a motor vehicle in Colorado, you have agreed to submit to a blood or breath test to determine the alcohol content of your blood or breath if a police officer has probable cause to believe you have been driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of, or impaired by, alcohol.
2. By driving a motor vehicle in Colorado, you have agreed to submit to a test of your blood, saliva, and urine for the purpose of determining the drug content if a police officer has probable cause to believe you have been driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of, or impaired by, drugs. The choice of test is left solely to the discretion of the officer.
3. You are not allowed to consult with an attorney prior to responding to the officer's request for a test.
4. If your lack of cooperation prevents the requested test from being completed within two hours of your driving, you will be deemed to have refused to submit to a test.
5. A refusal to sign any release or consent forms required by a person authorized to take or withdraw specimens is a refusal to submit to the required tests.
6. The results of the test, or your refusal to take the test, can be used against you in court.
7. If you refuse testing, your license will be revoked, you will be required to have a breath testing device in your car for at least 2 years, and you will be required to have DUI treatment for at least 8 months in order to get your license back. Now, will you take the test?

Which test do you choose to submit to? (Initial the appropriate line.)
